Scenery- Chewing

Devouring images — of landscapes or anything else, for-no-other-reason-besides-to-do-it — is a contemporary compulsion and pastime. We share and share some more. There's no burn, there's no hurt. Sure, the scenery is nice - often, okay to good, maybe a little interesting, perhaps, at times, evenly beautiful. Yet, the endurance and caloric burn of keeping everything (opinions, counter-opinions, transgressions and speculation) in check, is a monster chore. Your pretty picture is my information, and my information will become someone else's data. Keep chewing the scenery.
